

Please see the following ONE PAGE of the police report (complete report posted above this link on main page)

Male Boss Rape Threats. What would sound insane is documented on police reports.

Male Bosses did not report their fears (or fantasies) to our police. Wells Fargo did, obviously. Same with the email used as basis for the first kidnapping using corrupted, corrupt, or unduly influenced police for corporate pecuniary motivations.

First, notice how Wells Fargo transmitted to our police, among other things, that I threatened to rape my bosses. The only bosses for 100 miles were two men. I realize that sounds “ludicrous on its face” but there it is. Attached. Note: “Potter” was a fellow loan originator who denied he was even there and he has no power as described. “Christiansen” was a low level Securitas guard who is heard on police audio saying he has no power to order arrest and did not 'trespass' me.

That theme is repeated on two other occasions, including the unsigned -at-time arrest affidavit. If you read the other police reports you will see the case was assigned by a Sergeant Erik Klinko. If you google him you see he caused the city to be sued at least twice (Monroe c. 2002, Lewis c. 2006 and the parties prevailed) for excessive force. He headed up the SWAT team. The 'Monroe' case was particularly horrific. A force of c. 100 police officers with light tanks invaded a small home looking for marijuana c. 2000. The women were chained and laid out on the ground with hoods placed over their heads. Police found a tiny amount of marijuana, as can be found in over half the houses in Eugene Oregon if police were to go look in them. Our SWAT team rarely left the station without embarrassing themselves, killing or maiming someone, or using bizarre levels for force. Perhaps in their minds they imagine Eugene Oregon to be Fallujah Iraq and that the citizen is their enemy.

But wait....it gets much worse: He was later involved in the at-home police execution of a 19 year old retarded man and that was widely reported then very well sealed. It was c. 2006.

We will, as needed, discover the exact chain of calls and messages between Wells Fargo/Ogletree Deakins and local police to determine why the case was assigned to Eric Klinko and exactly what communication occurred and when.

ONE PAGE POLICE REPORT FOLLOWS – complete report linked from main page
www.risepatriot.com

BROAD POTTER
920-5115

I responded to Wells Fargo Mortgage at 100 E Broadway regarding a trespass complaint.

I contacted Christiansen and Potter. Christiansen is a security guard hired by Wells Fargo because of safety concerns about a former employee, Clark. Potter is a mortgage consultant in the office. They told me that Clark had recently (weeks ago) been terminated from his position at the office and had been repeatedly trying to come back in and entering back onto the property.

Potter said that Clark has, for several months, been demonstrating increasingly bizarre behavior. He described behavior that can be generalized as conspiratorial, neurotic, and obsessive. He said that he is turning the organization into the FBI for prosecution under the RICO statute. He said that he will rape his bosses because they fired him. He has continually come back and tapped on the windows and opened the front doors of the business after being told not to enter the premises.

Both Potter and Christiansen told me that they have authority to trespass people from the premises and they have done so with Clark via police contact. (on 071811, Officer Esch contacted Clark and told him that he was not allowed on any Wells Fargo Property - this was documented in an FI)

Because of Clark's behavior which resembles psychosis, Wells Fargo hires Christiansen as a guard for the safety of the workers there. On the above date and time, Christiansen and Potter told me that they saw Clark ride up on his bike and approach the doors of the business to within one foot of the doors. The business is on a corner and this would clearly be on the business property. He left when he saw he was being observed. As they were relating this to me, we all observed Clark approach the same corner on his bike. He appeared to observe me inside and rode off eastbound. By the time I could get out of the building, he was gone.

Potter and Christiansen both told me that the manager, Martin, has formally trespassed him from the location. Martin did not answer his phone. They said that they wanted him arrested for trespass.

I attempted to call Clark but he would not answer his phone.

The employees whom I spoke to were very concerned for their safety. They asked if they should carry guns to protect themselves from Clark should he return. They describe him as very mentally unstable and unpredictable.

164
SCHULKE #164
Patrol, DOWNTOWN

072911 @ 1200

Approved By: